SUFFS CHOOSE PICKET LISTS

Militants to Resume "Peaceful" Watch in Front of White House.

aption of peaceful picketing by the silent sentinel members of the National Woman's party, such as has been staged at the east and west gates of the White House for many months, will begin today at noon, when the usual quota of from six to eight suffragettes will march, with banners, from their headquarters at Cameron House and take up their old stands.

Decision was made by prominent suffrage leaders late last night to abandon the plan for a picketing demonstration today with more than a score of suffrage women who have 'railied to the cause" from every portion of the United States and to sim-ply resume the same picket tactics which have been carried on by them

Leaders at the suffrage headquarters have taken it as a foregone con-clusion that there will be no attempts made to prevent their picket programs in the future and it is their purpose to stage them daily until the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment

On account of the extreme humidity in the early morning nowadays it has been decided, for comfort's sake, to move the morning mobilization of the silent sentinels from 11 o'clock, as heretofore, until noon. They will stay on duty from that hour until 5

Miss Iris Calderhead, who has been director of the picketing activities of the party for several weeks, will continue to direct that phase of the suf-frage movement. Should the pacifists stage a "picketing" in front of the Executive Mansion today, there is a strong probability that the suffra-gettes will delay one more day, as they are determined not to be identifled with the other movement.

Nelson M. Sheppard, who is now "somewhere in France" with the Pershing expeditionary force, has written a letter to some friends here giving a hasty sketch of his experience in his way across the Atlantic. Mr. Shepard, a son of Justice Shepard, was a well-known newspaper man in Washington, and was connected with The Washington Herald for a number of years. He enlisted in the Marine Corps only a few weeks before being ordered to France. He has scores of friends in the city who will be glad to read the following message from him:

We have a censor, of course, and I do not know what I can or cannot write in a letter, but am going to keep on the safe side.
